On an actual examination of the Sample Medals recently sent to Messrs. P. orr & Sons, they say that the cost of a II class medal as per sample and specifications (22 carat gold) would work up to Rs 60/- each — as against Rs 45 which they quoted previously (without actual examination of sample). The firm apparently realise that if they underquoted, the fault is theirs and they ask for an increase of Rs 5/- per medal as a partial recompense of their "loss" — if possible.

All other firms had quoted Rs 50 (the enhanced rate now prayed for by Messrs P. orr & Sons), but the Indian Jeweller Mart subsequently offered to reduce their quotation to Rs 45/-. Dear Sir,

With reference to your esteemed order No.322/C.B.7-35-8 dated 13th instant and our letter of the 15th instant, we have now received a sample of the second class Public Service medal, and regret to find that our quotation of Rs.45/- for this is hopelessly inadequate in view of the present price of gold.

Having accepted the order, we do not propose to go back on our quotation and are accordingly proceeding with the manufacture of the six medals which will be delivered to you on due date, but as we are working at a heavy loss, we shall be glad to know if it is possible for you to slightly increase the price of the medal, say, to Rs.50/- each. This small addition would, to some extent, help us out of our difficulty, and we can assure you that at today's price of gold, a reasonable charge for these medals would be Rs.60/- each. When quoting we had no idea as to the weight of gold in the medal, as we have not previously manufactured these and had not seen a sample.

We trust you will be able to see your way to accede to our above request.
